Introduction

This guidance is aimed at every agency, including statutory, voluntary, private and independent, that works directly or indirectly with children and young people, including the families of these children and young people. The aim is to help agencies assess and identify a child's level of need; this threshold document, with need broken down into four levels, is available for all individuals, practitioners and staff.

Every child's individual need should be understood in their own particular context. Situations will be unique and specific to that child. This threshold document is not a rigid list of procedures and levels of intervention, and should be used as a guidance to consider, and ultimately, meet the needs of each child.

Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children can be defined as:

- Protecting children from maltreatment
- Preventing impairment of children's health or development
- Ensuring that children grow up in circumstances consistent with the provision of safe and effective care
- Taking action to enable all children to have the best outcomes

Working Together to Safeguard Children 2018 sets out a clear expectation that local agencies will work together and collaborate to identify children with additional needs and provide support as soon as a problem emerges. Providing Early Help is far more effective in promoting the welfare of children – and keeping them safe – than reacting later when any problems, for example neglect, may have become more entrenched. The importance of using a child-centred approach in following the child's journey is also emphasised. All services which are provided must be based on a clear understanding of the needs and views of the individual child in their family and community context.

This document provides a framework for professionals who are working with children, young people and families

It aims to help identify when a child may need additional support to achieve their full potential. It introduces a continuum of help and support, provides information on the levels of need and gives examples of some of the factors that may indicate a child or young person needs additional support. By undertaking assessments and offering services on a continuum of help and support, professionals can be flexible and respond to different levels of need in different children and families.

The framework recognises that however complex a child's needs, universal services e.g. education and health, will always be provided alongside any specialist additional service.

Along the continuum of need, services become increasingly targeted and specialised according to the level of need. Children's needs are not static, and they may experience different needs – at different points on the continuum – throughout their childhood years.

Children can, and may, move from one level in the threshold to another. An assessment is an ongoing, living process, and because a child has met certain criteria within the threshold, this does not necessarily mean that they will always be at this level.

Therefore, it is essential to identify the child's needs, history, parental vulnerabilities, family and environmental factors as a whole at every assessment. It must also be noted that children's and young people's needs often change over time, and agencies (including universal services) may need to offer support at more than one level.

The SPA is for all agencies making referrals, including members of the public, to enable the effective coordination of services for families.

When there is an immediate need to protect a child, because they are being harmed or at risk of significant harm, the Local Authority's Children's Social Care must be contacted promptly by telephone referral via the

Single Point of Access (SPA) - for Kingston and Richmond

(Out of hours: 020 8770 5000)

SPA referral form

All verbal referrals must be followed up by a written referral within 24 hours, which should receive a response within 48 hours. When there is an immediate need to protect the child, the police should be called on 999.

This document should be used in conjunction with The London Child Protection Procedures: londoncp.co.uk

Remember – where there is an urgent and immediate need to protect a child, dial 999 to contact the Police. Otherwise for all other children who may be at risk of significant harm, contact the relevant Local Authority, Children's Social Care Service as soon as possible.

The continuum of need matrix does not provide an exhaustive list but provides examples that can be used as a tool to assist assessment, planning and decision making when considering the needs of children and their safeguarding needs, in particular.

Any safeguarding indicators of concern should always be considered alongside any related needs. It should be remembered that some children will have additional vulnerability because of their disability or complex needs and the parental response to the vulnerability of the child must be considered when assessing needs and risks.

For some areas of need there may be specialist tools available to assess those needs such as the KRSCP Neglect toolkit and the CAADA DASH domestic violence risk assessment tool. These are available londonscb.gov.uk

1. Levels of need

There are four levels of need.

Tier 1/Level 1: No additional needs. These are children with no additional needs; all their health and developmental needs will be met by universal services. These are children who consistently receive child focused care giving from their parents or carers. The majority of children living in each local authority area require support from universal services alone.

Tier 2/Level 2a & b: Early Help. These are children with additional needs, who may be vulnerable and showing early signs of abuse and/or neglect; their needs are not clear, not known or not being met. These children may be subject to adult focused care giving. This is the threshold for a multi-agency Early Help assessment to begin. These are children who require a lead professional for a co-ordinated approach to the provision of additional services such as family support services, parenting programmes and children’s centres. These will be provided within universal or targeted services provision and do not include services from children’s social care.

Tier 3/Level 3: Children with complex multiple needs. These children require specialist services in order to achieve or maintain a satisfactory level of health or development or to prevent significant impairment of their health and development and/or who are disabled. They may require longer term intervention from specialist services. In some cases, these children’s needs may be secondary to the adults’ needs and vulnerabilities. This is the threshold for an assessment led by Children’s Social Care under Section 17, Children Act 1989; although the assessments and services required may come from a range of provision outside Children’s Social Care.

Tier 4/Level 4 : Children in acute need. These children are suffering or are likely to suffer significant harm. This is the threshold for child protection. These children are likely to have already experienced adverse effects and to be suffering from poor outcomes. Their needs may not be considered by their parents. This tier also includes Tier 4 health services which are very specialised services in residential, day patient or outpatient settings for children and adolescents with severe and /or complex health problems. This is likely to mean that they may be referred to Children’s Social Care under Section 20, 47 or 31 of the Children Act 1989. This would also include those children remanded into custody and statutory Youth Offending Services.

2. The Assessment Triangle

The assessment triangle below should be used to identify the interplay between the three domains to assess the child's needs and form a judgement regarding the level of need. It is our basis of assessment for every unborn baby, child and young person, placing the child at the centre of all our work.

Practitioners are encouraged to be involved in:

- information gathering;
- professional judgement;
- analysis; and
- consideration of risk.

Multi-agency communication is key to developing a full picture of the child and their family's circumstances, using independent interpreters if necessary. It is important that all involvement with a child and their family is recorded on your agency's files. If there are any queries, practitioners should seek advice and support from the safeguarding leads within their own organisation.

Any assessment on a child needs to take place in a timely manner, including before a baby is born.

Please refer to the KRSCP Pre-Birth Protocol for further information on unborn babies.

3.Early Help in Kingston and Richmond

“Early Help is everyone’s business” Working in partnership with children, families and communities is essential in building resilience and sustaining improved outcomes.’

Kingston and Richmond Safeguarding Children Partnership have a Early Help strategy which means that a child and their family can be offered, or access voluntarily, extra help before issues with the family escalate.

‘Early Help’ is support given to a child, young person or family when a problem first emerges. It can be provided at any stage in a child or young person’s life.

Our collaborative model of Early Help will span two levels on the continuum of need (Levels 1, 2a and 2b): the third and fourth level will require a referral to statutory social care. Early Help teams (EHT) are covered in both level 2a/b.

All agencies should be alert to the potential need for early help for a child who:

- Is disabled and has specific additional needs;
- Has Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (whether or not they have a statutory Education, Health and Care Plan EHCP);
- Is a young carer;
- Is showing signs of engaging in anti-social; or criminal behaviour, including gang involvement and association with organised crime groups;
- Is frequently missing/goes missing from care or from home;
- Is at risk of modern slavery, trafficking or exploitation;
- Is at risk of being radicalised or exploited;
- Is in a family where parental vulnerabilities present challenges for the child, such as drug and alcohol misuse, adult mental health issues and domestic abuse;
- Is misusing drugs or alcohol themselves;
- Has returned home to their family from care;
- Is a privately fostered child;
- Is showing early signs of abuse or neglect.

Level 2a: Low risk to vulnerable: Early Help resilience networks

These are children whose levels of additional need vary in scale and complexity. They may have low level additional needs which may be known but are not being met, that will likely require a coordinated response via the Early Help resilience networks to support them, their family, and the universal services they access, in order to address the vulnerability and stop their needs escalating.

This model that is rooted in building family and community resilience and networks of community support at the earliest opportunity. We intend to coordinate Early Help resilience networks (see below graphic) aligned to age and stage in order to support community resilience and cohesion. The approach seeks to empower communities and families, reduce the need for referral to services, which in turn can be disempowering and unsustainable. There will be three in each borough a total of six a month for each age and stage in a child’s development.

Level 2b:Low risk to vulnerable: Early Help Assessment used by Early Help Teams

The Early Help Assessment in its entirety can be used to enable all practitioners to identify strategies and interventions to support families whose needs fall below the social care threshold. In this instance, the child's needs will be similar to the features and examples given at Level 2b of the threshold guidance.

If, however, the level of need is judged to be greater, Level 3/Tier 3 or above, and intervention needs to be considered then you should follow safeguarding procedures immediately.

For further information on the Early Help Assessment process please go to Achieving for Children Early Help Assessment.

For safeguarding concerns, practitioners, in the first instance, should make a telephone referral to Single Point of Access (SPA) - for Kingston and Richmond 020 8547 5008 (out of hours 020 8770 5000) and follow this up in writing.

4. Neglect

It can be particularly difficult for practitioners to recognise the signs of neglect, because there is unlikely to have been a significant incident or event that highlights the concerns; it is more likely that there will be a series of concerns over a period of time that, taken together, demonstrate that the child is in need or at risk

Children (including those who are unborn) need adequate food, water, shelter, warmth, protection and health care in order to thrive. They also need their carers to be attentive, dependable and kind. Children are neglected if these essential needs (the things they need to develop and grow) are persistently not met.

There are many signs that may indicate neglect as outlined below:

- Neglect may occur during or after pregnancy as a result of parental substance abuse (drugs or alcohol).
- A chaotic family environment which can include an absence of boundaries or routines.
- A parent / carer who has vulnerabilities, such as mental health difficulties or learning disabilities such that impacts on their ability to meet the needs of any children.
- Inadequate parenting and/or understanding of what it means to look after a child safely including ensuring adequate supervision or using inadequate caregivers.
- Ensuring access to appropriate medical care or treatment.
- Ensuring that educational needs are met.
- It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs.

Signs of neglect can include poor physical appearance, bad hygiene, lack of appropriate clothing, the child being withdrawn or exhibiting antisocial or sexualised behaviours, and the child not meeting physical or emotional development milestones.

In considering whether or not a child has been neglected, it is important to consider the quality of care they have received over a period of time, as this could vary to the extent in which it impacts on their development. It is also important to consider the age of the child in relation to the nature of the neglect and the length of time for which the concerns have existed.

The above signs in isolation would not necessarily indicate for certain that a child is being neglected, however, children who are severely and persistently neglected may be in danger and neglect can also result in the serious impairment to their health or development.

Some adults lack the resources and support to properly care for their children, but some have more complex problems. In both cases help and support from professionals is essential.

Deciding if a child is neglected can be very hard – even for a trained professional – and it's natural to worry that you may be mistaken.

5.The Indicators of Possible Need

The indicators on the following pages are designed to provide practitioners with an overarching view on what tier of support and intervention a family might need

This is not intended to be a 'tick box' exercise, but to give a quick-reference guide to support professionals in their decision-making, including conducting further assessments, referring to other services and understanding the likely thresholds for higher levels of intervention.

Remember that if there is a combination of indicators of need under Tier Two, the case may be a Tier Three case overall.

Also remember that need is not static; the needs of a child/young person/ family will change over time. Where a plan has been agreed, this should be reviewed regularly to analyse whether sufficient progress has been made to meet the child's needs and on the level of risk faced by the child. This will be important in cases of neglect where parents and carers can make small improvements, but an analysis will need to be undertaken on whether this leads to significant improvements for the child/young person.

If you have child protection concerns, you must also consult the London Child Protection Procedures London Child Protection Procedures and you must inform your safeguarding lead or line manager.

6.Key guidance

All children have the right to grow up safe from harm and the Children Act 1989, and 2004 places duties on all agencies to promote and safeguard the welfare of children in need and at risk in their local area. A child is defined within the Children Act 1989, as anyone who has not yet reached their 18th birthday, including unborn babies.

The 'parent' should refer to anyone who has parental responsibility for the child, any birth or natural father or any other adult within the family who can reasonably be regarded as having a parenting role. Where there are issues of consent, it will be important to distinguish who has parental responsibility.

The Children Act 2004 encourages agencies, wherever possible, to work in partnership with families and make onward referrals with their consent. This should be possible in Levels 2 and 3, but it is acknowledged that gaining consent for Level 4 could at times place a child at further risk and the practitioner should gain advice, if time allows, from their safeguarding lead.

Sometimes 'significant harm' may be a single, traumatic event, but more often it is an accumulation of significant events, both acute and longstanding over time, such as in situations of neglect.

There are no absolute criteria in making judgements regarding children's wellbeing. Practitioners are encouraged to professionally raise concerns and escalate those concerns with other agencies, if they feel, in their judgement, that a child's needs or safety are being overlooked (using, if required the KRSCP Resolution and Escalation Protocol)

The Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO) can be contacted via the SPA in both boroughs and should be alerted to all cases where it is alleged that a person who works or volunteers with children has behaved in a way that has, or may have harmed a child, possibly committed a criminal offence against children or related to a child, behaved towards a child or children in a way that indicates they are unsuitable to work with children. (Working Together 2018)

Kingston and Richmond Safeguarding Children Partnership (KRSCP) and its partners have adopted the 'Signs of Safety' (SOS) approach when working with all families where there are concerns about children's safety.

The Signs of Safety Assessment is a child protection casework resource to enable the worker to strengthen the investigation of risk and stabilise relations with the child and family.

7. Single Point of Access

The Single Point of Access (SPA), is the single gateway for all incoming contacts to children's services, providing telephone and web-based support to professionals, the public, children, young people and their parents or carers in Kingston and Richmond.

The key functions of the SPA are:

- to check the information held about the child or family across the child's network;
- to make an initial decision about which part of Achieving for Children (AfC) is best placed to respond;
- to create a record of the request and the decision made; and
- to pass the information on to the correct service within agreed timescales (usually 24 hours).

The process for accessing services through the SPA is set out below. The SPA is able to provide accurate information to any queries involving children supported via the Early Help Assessment at Level 2. The SPA can initiate step-up procedures where needs have escalated to Level 3 and can refer directly. Similarly, SPA is also able to see cases that step-down to services at Level 2.

The SPA will provide information, advice and guidance, including signposting to an appropriate universal service.

Single Point of Access (SPA) - for Kingston and Richmond

(Out of hours: 020 8770 5000)

SPA referral form

Early Help Services can also be accessed via SPA. The purpose is to provide early help and support to families when problems or difficulties first emerge and to support families to build greater resilience and capacity amongst children and young people so they are able to make a positive journey to adulthood. By doing so, we will reduce the number of children, young people and families who need to access more intensive and more costly services.

Indicators of Need Matrix [Tiers 1 - 4]
Development of the baby, child or young person
This includes the child's health, family and social relationships, including primary attachment, and emotional and behavioural development. Some of the indicators will depend on the child's age. These are guidelines to support practitioners in their decision-making. This is not intended to be a 'tick box' exercise and practitioners should use their professional judgement.
Tier 1 Children with no additional needs whose health and developmental needs can be met by universal services.	Tier 2 Children with additional needs that can be met through the provision of 'early help' - a referral to children's social care is NOT required.	Tier 3 Children with complex multiple needs who need statutory and specialist services. A referral to children's social care is required.	Tier 4 Children in acute need. Require immediate referral to children's social care and/or the police.
The child's education and employment
Developmental milestones met	Some developmental milestones are not being met which will be supported by universal services.	Some developmental milestones are not being met which will require support of targeted/specialist services	Developmental milestones are significantly delayed or impaired.
The child possesses age-appropriate ability to understand and organise information and solve problems, and makes adequate academic progress.	The child's ability to understand and organise information and solve problems is impaired and the child is under-achieving or is making no academic progress.	The child's ability to understand and organise information and solve problems is very significantly impaired and the child is seriously under-achieving or is making no academic progress despite learning support strategies over a period of time.	The child's inability to understand and organise information and solve problems is adversely impacting on all areas of his/her development creating risk of significant harm.

The child's health
The child is healthy and does not have a physical or mental health condition or disability	The child has a mild physical or mental health condition or disability which affects their everyday functioning but can be managed in mainstream schools. Child may be on school action or action plus/SEN statement Child in hospital.	The child has a physical or mental health condition or disability which significantly affects their everyday functioning and access to education. Child may have SEN statement.	The child has a complex physical or mental health condition or disability which is having an adverse impact on their physical, emotional or mental health and access to education.
The child is healthy, and has access to and makes use of appropriate health and health advice services.	The child rarely accesses appropriate health and health advice services, missing immunisations.	There is no evidence that the child has accessed health and health advice services and suffers chronic and recurrent health problems as a result.	The child has complex health problems which are attributable to the lack of access to health services.
The child undertakes regular physical activities and has a healthy diet.	The child undertakes no physical activity, and/ or has an unhealthy diet which is impacting on their health.	The child undertakes no physical activity and has a diet which seriously impacts on their health despite intensive support from early help services.	Despite support, the child undertakes no physical activity and has a diet which is adversely affecting their health and causing significant harm.
The child has no history of substance misuse or dependency. The child's emotional wellbeing
The child engages in age appropriate activities and displays age appropriate behaviours.	The child is at risk of becoming involved in negative behaviour/ activities - for example anti-social behaviour [ASB] or substance misuse.	The child is becoming involved in negative behaviour/ activities, for example, non-school attendance and as a result may be excluded short term from school. This increases their risk of being involved in ASB, crime, substance misuse and puts them at risk of grooming and exploitative relationships with peers or adults.	The child frequently exhibits negative behaviour or activities that place self or others at imminent risk including chronic non-school attendance. Child may be permanently excluded or not in education which puts them at high risk of CSE.
The child has a positive sense of self and abilities.	The child has a negative sense of self and abilities.	The child has a negative sense of self and abilities to the extent that it impacts on their daily outcomes.	The child has such a negative sense of self and abilities that there is evidence or likelihood that this is causing harm.
The child's positive sense of self and abilities reduces the risk that they will be targeted by peers or adults who wish to exploit them.	The child has a negative sense of self and abilities and suffers with low self-esteem which makes them vulnerable to peers and adults who pay them attention and/or show them affection but do so in order to exploit them.	The child's negative sense of self and low self-esteem has contributed to their involvement with peers and/or adults who are thought to be treating them badly and/or encouraging them to get involved in self destructive and/or anti-social or criminal behaviour.	The child's vulnerability resulting from their negative sense of self and low esteem has been exploited by others who are causing them harm.

The child is emotionally supported by his/her parents/carers to meet their developmental milestones to the best of their abilities.	The child occasionally does not meet developmental milestones due to a lack of emotional support.	The child is unable to meet developmental milestones due to the inability of their parent/carer to emotionally engage with them.	The child's development is being significantly impaired.
The child has not suffered the loss of a close family member or friend	The child has suffered a bereavement recently or in the past and is distressed but receives support from family and friends and appears to be coping reasonably well – would benefit from short term additional support from early help services.	The child has suffered bereavement recently or in the past and doesn't appear to be coping. For example, whilst missing the young person is spending time with people with extremist views and perceives these people as teaching her/him the correct way to live and those who don't hold these views as deluded and/or as a threat
The child does not have caring responsibilities.	The child occasionally has caring responsibilities for members of their family and this sometimes impacts on their opportunities.	The child's outcomes are being adversely impacted by their caring responsibilities.	The child's outcomes are being adversely impacted by their unsupported caring responsibilities which have been on-going for a lengthy period of time and are unlikely to end in the foreseeable future.
The child is able to communicate with others, engages in positive social interactions and demonstrates positive behaviour in a wide variety of social situations. Child demonstrates respect for others.	The child expresses intolerant views towards peers and this leads to their being socially isolated.	The child often interacts negatively or has limited interaction with those they perceive as holding different views from themselves. They demonstrate significant lack of respect for others, for example, becoming aggressive with those that do not share their intolerant or extreme views.	Positive interaction with others is severely limited. The child has isolated themselves from peers and/or family because of their extreme and intolerant views. They glorify acts of terrorism and/or believe in conspiracy theories and perceive mainstream society as hostile to themselves. They are frequently aggressive and intimidating towards others who do not share their views or have a lifestyle they approve of.

Abuse and neglect
The child shows no physical symptoms which could be attributed to neglect.	The child occasionally shows physical symptoms which could indicate neglect such as a poor hygiene or tooth decay.	The child consistently shows physical symptoms which clearly indicate neglect	The child shows physical signs of neglect such as a thin or swollen tummy, poor skin tone/sores/rashes, prominent joints and bones, poor hygiene or tooth decay which are attributable to the care provided by their parents/carers.
The child is appropriately dressed.	The child or their siblings sometimes come to nursery/school in dirty clothing or they are unkempt or soiled.	The child or their siblings consistently come to school in dirty clothing which is inappropriate for the weather and/ or they are unkempt or soiled The parents/carers are reluctant or unable to address these concerns.	The child consistently wears dirty or inappropriate clothing and are suffering significant harm as a result [e.g. they are unable to fully participate at school, are being bullied and/or are physically unwell]
The child has injuries, such as bruising on their shins etc., which are consistent with normal childish play and activities.	The child has occasional, less common injuries which are consistent with the parents' account of accidental injury. The parents seek out or accept advice on how to avoid accidental injury.	The child has injuries for example bruising, scalds, burns and scratches, which are accounted for but are more frequent than would be expected for a child of a similar age.	The child has injuries, for example bruising, scalds, burns and scratches, which are not accounted for. The child makes disclosure and implicates parents or older family members.

The child is provided with an emotionally warm and stable family environment.	The child's experiences parenting characterised by a lack of emotional warmth and/ is overly critical and/or inconsistent.	The child experiences a volatile and unstable family environment. and this is having a negative effect on the child who, due to the emotional neglect they have suffered is vulnerable to grooming and/or exploitative relationships with abusive adults or risky peer groups	The child has suffered long term neglect of the emotional needs and, as a result, is now at high risk of, or is already involved in sexual or other forms of exploitation either as a perpetrator or victim

Parenting during pregnancy and infancy
The parent/carer accesses ante-natal and/or post-natal care	The parent/carer demonstrates ambivalence to ante-natal and post-natal care with irregular attendance and missed appointments.	The parent/ carer is not accessing ante-natal and/ or post-natal care.	The parent neglects to access ante natal care and is using drugs and alcohol excessively whilst pregnant. Meeting the health needs of the child
The parent/carer understands and is appropriately responsive to the health demands of their child.	The parent/ carer displays high levels of anxiety regarding their child's health and their response is beginning to impact on the well-being of the child.	The parent/ carer displays high levels of anxiety regarding their child's health and their response is impacting on the well-being of the child. For example, they are unnecessarily removed from school or prevented from socialising or playing sport. There are some indications that the parent/carer's concerns for the health of the child are unrelated to any physical or mental symptoms of illness.	The parent/carers' level of anxiety regarding their child's health is significantly harming the child's development. For example, their attendance at school is poor and/or they are socially isolated. There are strong suspicions or evidence that the parent/carer is fabricating or inducing illness in their child.
All the child's needs (e.g. disability, behaviour, long-term conditions) are fully met by the parents.	Parents are meeting the child's needs but require additional help in order to do so.	One or more child's needs (e.g. disability, behaviour, long-term conditions) are not always met by the parents, with additional support required, and this is having an impact on the day to day lives of the child/children's siblings/parents.	One or more children's needs (e.g. disability, behaviour, long-term conditions) have a significant impact on the day to day lives of the child/children and their siblings and/or parents.

Meeting the educational and employment needs of the child
The parent/ carer positively supports learning and aspirations and engages with school.	The parent is not engaged in supporting learning aspirations and/or is not engaging with the school.	The parent does not engage with the school and actively resists suggestions of supportive interventions.	The parent/carer actively discourages or prevents the child from learning or engaging with the school.
The young person is supported to success in the labour market.	The young person is not supported to success in the labour market.	The young person is often discouraged from success in the labour market.	The young person is actively obstructed and discouraged from success in the labour market.
The child has an appropriate education and opportunities for social interaction with peers.	There is concern that the education the child is receiving does not teach them about different cultures, faiths and ideas or, if it does, is derogatory and dismissive of different faiths, cultures and ideas.	The child is being educated to hold intolerant, extremist views. They are not using public services, such as schools or youth clubs, and are only mixing with other children and adults who hold similar intolerant, extremist views.	The child is being educated by adults who are members of or have links to proscribed organisations – see link below for list of terrorist groups or organisations banned under UK law Proscribed terrorist groups or organisations

There is a warm and supportive relationship between the parent/carer and the child which supports the child's emotional, behavioural and social development.	Occasional periods of relationship difficulties impact on the child's development.	Relationship difficulties between the child and parent/carer significantly inhibits the child's emotional, behavioural and social development which if unaddressed could lead to relationship breakdown.	Relationships between the child and parent/carer have broken down to the extent that the child is at risk of significant harm. For example, the parent/carer rejects their child from home.
The parent/ carer sets consistent boundaries and give guidance.	The parent/ carer struggles to set age appropriate boundaries and has difficulties maintaining their child's routine.	The parent/ carer is unable to judge dangerous situations and/or is unable to set appropriate boundaries.	The parent/ carer is unable to judge dangerous situations and/or is unable to set appropriate boundaries and their child is frequently exposed to dangerous situations in the home and / or community.
There is a positive family network and good friendships outside the family unit.	There is a significant lack of support from the extended family network which is impacting on the parent's capacity.	There is a weak or negative family network. There is destructive or unhelpful involvement from the extended family.	The family network has broken down or is highly volatile and is causing serious adverse impact to the child.

	A child is known to live with an adult or older child who has extreme views. The child either doesn't express support for these views or is too young to express such views themselves.	A child is taken to demonstrations or marches where violent, extremist and/or age inappropriate imagery or language is used.	The child, their parents/carers or other close family members or friends are members of proscribed organisations.
	A child is known to live with an adult or young person who has extreme views and the child has unsupervised access to computers which means they may view violent extremist imagery which the adults or young people have been viewing	A child is being sent violent extremist imagery by family members/ family friends or is being helped to access it. Parents/carers either don't challenge this activity or appear to endorse it.	A child is circulating violent extremist images and is promoting the actions of violent extremists and/or saying that they will carry out violence in support of extremist views.
	The child and/or their parents/carers express strong support for a particular extremist organisation or movement but do not express any intention to be actively involved.	The child and/or their parents/carers express strong support for extremist views and a generalised, non-specific intention to travel to a conflict zone in support of those views.	The child and/or their parents/carers are making plans to travel to a conflict zone and there is evidence to suggest that they are doing so to support or participate in extremist activities.

Meeting the practical needs of the child
The parent/ carer makes appropriate provisions for food, drink, warmth and shelter.	The parent/ carer occasionally makes inappropriate or inadequate provisions for food, drink, warmth and shelter.	The parent/ carer regularly makes inappropriate or inadequate provisions for food, drink, warmth and shelter.	The parent/carer has consistently failed to provide appropriate or adequate provisions for food, drink, warmth and shelter.
The parent/carer provides appropriate clean, clothing.	The carer gives consideration to the provision of clean, age appropriate clothes to meet the needs of the child, but their own personal circumstances can get in the way of ensuring their child has these clothes.	Carer(s) neglect their child physically through their indifference to the importance of providing clean, age appropriate clothes for the child. , This impacts on the child and prevents them meeting developmental milestones.	The parent /carer neglects their child physically and/or emotionally for example providing dirty or inappropriate clothing and this causes the child severe distress and/or prevents him/her meeting their developmental milestones.
The parent/carer provides for all the child's material needs	The parent/carer is sometimes neglectful of the child's material needs and this could make them vulnerable to peers or adults who offer them clothes, foods etc in return for favours.	Parent/carer has been/is often neglectful of the child's material needs and this is having a negative impact on the child who may, for example, be socially isolated because of their old or dirty clothing or may be involved in petty theft to get clothes etc. This puts them at risk of grooming for sexual exploitation or involvement in criminal activity.	The child has suffered long term neglect of the material needs and is now at risk of or is already involved in criminal activity to meet their material needs and/or they are being sexually exploited.

The expectant mother or parent/carer is not in an abusive relationship.	The expectant mother/parent/carer is a victim of occasional or low-level non-physical abuse.	The expectant mother /parent/carer has previously been a victim of domestic abuse and is a victim of occasional or low-level non-physical abuse. There are no incidents of violence in the family and no history or previous assaults by family members.	There are isolated incidents of physical and/or emotional violence in the family.  The harmful impact of such incidents is mitigated by other protective factors within the family such as supportive grandparents who are able to look after the child when there are arguments/disputes in the family home.	One or more adult members of the family is physically and emotionally abusive to another adult member/s of the family. The perpetrator/s show limited or no commitment to changing their behaviour and little or no understanding of the impact their violence has on the child. The perpetrator is emotionally harming the child/ren who witness or are otherwise aware of the violence.	One or more adult members of the family is a perpetrator of persistent and/or serious physical violence which may also be increasing in severity, frequency or duration. Parental and family health issues and disability
Parents do not use drugs or alcohol. OR Parental drug and alcohol use does not impact on parenting.	Drug and/or alcohol use is impacting on parenting but adequate provision is made to ensure the child's safety. The child is currently meeting their developmental milestones but there are concerns that this might not continue if parental drug and alcohol use continues or increases.	Drug/alcohol use has escalated to the point where it includes binge drinking, drug paraphernalia in their home, the child feeling unable to invite friends to the home, the child worrying about their parent/ carer.	Parental drug and/or alcohol use is at a problematic level and the parent/ carer cannot carry out daily parenting. This could include blackouts, confusion, severe mood swings, drug paraphernalia not stored or disposed of, using drugs/ alcohol when their child is present, involving the child in procuring illegal substances, and dangers of overdose.
There is no evidence of siblings or other household members misusing drugs or alcohol. Nb See Parental factors for assessment of need relating to parental drug/alcohol misuse]	Siblings' or other household members' drug or alcohol misuse occasionally impacts on the child.	Siblings' or other household members' drug or alcohol misuse consistently impacts on the child.	Siblings' or other household members' drug or alcohol misuse is significantly adversely impacting on the child.
The physical or mental health of the parent/carer does not affect the care of the child.	Physical and mental health needs of the parent/carer create an adult focus which at times detracts attention away from the child.	Physical or mental health needs of the parent/ carer is overshadowing the care of their child.	Physical or mental health needs of the parent/carer significantly affect the care of their child placing them at risk of significant harm.
The parents/ carers learning disabilities do not affect the care of their child.	The parents/carers learning difficulties occasionally impedes their ability to provide consistent patterns of care but without putting the child at risk.	The parents/ carers learning disabilities are affecting the care of their child.	The parents/ carers learning disabilities are severely affecting the care of their child and placing them at risk of significant harm.

Where siblings or other members of the family have disabilities, serious health conditions or mental health concerns which require additional support.	Siblings or other members of the family have a disability or serious health condition, including mental health concerns which impact on the child.	Siblings or other members of the family have disabilities, health conditions or mental health concerns that are seriously impacting on the child, for example causing neglect, putting them at risk of significant harm or causing them high levels of stress and emotional anxiety.
Protection from harm: physical or sexual abuse
The parent/ carer protects their family from danger/ significant harm.	The parent/carer on occasion does not protect their family which if unaddressed could lead to risk or danger.	The parent/carer frequently neglects/is unable to protect their family from danger/significant harm.	The parent/ carer is unable to protect their child from harm, placing their child at significant risk.
The parent/carer does not sexually abuse their child.	There is a history of sexual abuse within the family or network but the parents respond appropriately to the need to protect the child.	There are concerns around possible inappropriate sexual behaviour from the parent/carer. Parent or carer has expressed thoughts that they may sexually abuse their child but	The parent/ carer sexually abuses their child. There is no evidence of sexual abuse.	There are concerns relating to inappropriate sexual behaviour in the wider family.	The family home has in the past been used on occasion for drug taking /dealing, prostitution or illegal activities.	The family home is used for drug taking and/or dealing, prostitution and illegal activities. The child is being sexually abused/exploited. A schedule 1 offender who is a serious risk is in contact with the family.
The parent/carer does not physically harm their child. The parent uses reasonable physical chastisement that is within legal limits – that is they do not leave the child with visible bruising, grazes, scratches, minor swellings or cuts.	The parent/carer physically chastises their child within legal limits but there is concern that this is having a negative impact on the child’s emotional wellbeing (for example, the child appears fearful of the parent). There is concern that it may escalate in frequency and/or severity as the parent seems highly critical of their child and/or expresses the belief that only physical punishment will have the desired impact on the child’s behaviour. Section 20, Children Act 1989: Child provided with accommodation

This can be on the initiative of the local authority with the agreement of the parents, or at the request of the parents. Any person with parental responsibility can at any time remove the child from the accommodation.

The child is a child in need who requires accommodation as a result of:

- Having no person with parental responsibility for him/her; or
- Being lost or abandoned; or
- The person who has been caring for him/her being prevented (whether or not permanently, and for whatever reason) from providing him/her with suitable accommodation or care; or
- Having reached the age of 16, his/her welfare is likely to be seriously prejudiced if he/she is not provided with accommodation; or
- Accommodating the child would safeguard or promote his/her welfare (even though a person who has parental responsibility for him is able to provide him with accommodation), provided that that person does not object.

Before providing accommodation, so far as is reasonably practicable and consistent with the child's welfare:

- Ascertain, and give due consideration to the child's wishes and feelings (having regard to his/her age and understanding); and
- Ascertain whether the parents/person(s) with parental responsibility have given a valid consent:
  - Does the parent have the mental capacity to consent?
  - Is the consent fully informed?
  - Is it fair and proportionate for the child to be accommodated?

Section 31, Children Act 1989: Initiation of care proceedings

- The child is suffering, or is likely to suffer, significant harm; and
- The harm, or likelihood of harm, is attributable to:
  - The care given to the child, or likely to be given to him if the order were not made, not being what it would be reasonable to expect a parent to give to him; or
  - The child's being beyond parental control.

'Harm' means ill-treatment or the impairment of health or development including, for example, impairment suffered from seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another;

'Development' means physical, intellectual, emotional, social or behavioural development;

'Health' means physical or mental health; and

'Ill-treatment' includes sexual abuse and forms of ill-treatment which are not physical.

Where the question of whether harm suffered by a child is significant turns on the child's health or development, his/her health or development shall be compared with that which could reasonably be expected of a similar child.

Section 1 Children Act 1989 – The Court Welfare Checklist

The welfare checklist to which courts will have regard when deciding whether to make an order in respect of a child:

The ascertainable wishes and feelings of the child concerned (considered in the light of his/her age and understanding);

His/her physical, emotional and educational needs;

The likely effect on him/her of any change in his/her circumstances;

His/her age, sex, background and any characteristics which the court considers relevant;

Any harm which s/he has suffered or is at risk of suffering;

How capable each of his/her parents, and any other person in relation to whom the court considers the question to be relevant, is of meeting his/her needs;

The range of powers available to the court under the Children Act 1989.

Members of the public and professionals requiring advice should contact the relevant local authority's children's social care department. In Kingston and Richmond this is the Single Point Of Access (SPA) Kingston and Richmond Single Point Of Access SPA

Professional referrers should normally carry out an early help assessment using the Common Assessment Framework (CAF) or similar to identify whether the child/children have needs that should be met by more than one agency. This should then be sent to the relevant Children's Social Care Department - often via a secure e-CAF system.

For information on Early Help in Kingston and Richmond .Children's social care will then review the information about those needs and determine the most appropriate level of service to be provided, which may be universal, early help or statutory provision. Professional referrers are expected to gain parental consent to share information prior to making a referral for further services, unless to do so would place the child at risk of further harm. Concerns about child protection should be made through direct telephone contact with the relevant Children's Social Care Department.
